Hayley/Bruce: For your review

Looks great Karissa!

I added a "headline"

Mercury Inventory Report Published To Be Published This Week. OCSPP will publish the 2020 Mercury Inventory Report on the supply, use, and trade of mercury in the United States in advance of its April 1, 2020 statutory deadline under the Lautenberg Act amendments to TSCA. The report presents aggregated data submitted on imported mercury, mercury manufactured in the United States, imported mercury-added products, mercury-added products made in the United States, and mercury used in manufacturing processes. The inventory report also provides a broad view of U.S. mercury stored, sold, and exported, as well as industry sectors and countries involved in the supply, use, and trade of mercury. This report is the first inventory published after finalizing the mercury inventory reporting rule. The data presented in the report therefore comes directly from the companies that are using, manufacturing, or importing mercury, providing EPA and the public with more reliable and complete information on the supply, use, and trade of mercury in the United States than previously available, including data relevant for U.S. implementation of the Minamata Convention on Mercury.

Hi Bill.

I hope that you are doing well.

Do you know if OSCP has anything to submit for this week's report to the Administrator? We are trying to finalize the report earlier than usual this week.

Thank you.

Ruth

[NOTE: For at least this week, weekly report items are due to OCSPP IO by 9:00. Thank you.]

Dear Colleagues,

Here is a link to a draft of the Administrator's Weekly Report for March 20. It is a Word document in SharePoint and includes items from last week's report that are still relevant. (Potential items are also listed below in a table.) Please edit the existing items and insert blurbs on anything else that should be listed. If you would prefer, you can continue to submit your updates and blurbs in a Word document or in e-mail text.

For at least this week, weekly report items are due to OCSPP IO by 9:00 on Wednesday, March 18. Please notify me and Tom Tyler if you make an update to the SharePoint document and cc: Derrick Bolen, Mary Hanley, Melissa Grable, Cheryl Dunton and Allison Dennis. Send Word documents and e-mail text submissions to the same people.

Thank you for trying to use SharePoint to compile the weekly report. Please let us know if you have questions or need anything else. We also welcome other suggestions in the spirit of continuous improvement.

Ruth
